Abraham Baldwin's Draft Copy of the United States Constitution, MS 1703. Courtesy of the Georgia Historical Society

At Baldwin'

TE, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and fecure the bleffings of liberty to ourfelves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

A R T I C L E I.
Sect. 1. A L L legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Sect. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the feveral states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requifite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to fervitude for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every forty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative: and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New-Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York fix, New-Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland fix, Virginia ten, North-Carolina five, South-Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the Executive authority thereof fhall iffue writs of election to fill fuch vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers; and they shall have the fole power of impeachment.

Sect. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chofen by the legislature thereof, for fix years: and each senator shall have one vote. Immediately after they shall be affembled in confequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the fixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year: and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any state, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice-Prefident of the United States shall be, ex officio, Prefident of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States: but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

Sect. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof: but the Congress may at any tipe by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing tenators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Sect. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business: but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorifed to compel the attendance of abfent members, in fuch manner, and under fuch penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings; punish its members for disorderly behaviour, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the defire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be fitting.

Sect. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the fession of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No fenator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments

on year more or not represent the property of Weign to the being the most of the contract of the contract of the second of the second of the second of the contract of the c The converse of possibility of the first or the formal made proceed to reconfider to the metric to the same of the same of the first of and the state of the first of the first of the state of t Every order, aclosation, on one standards commonweath of the Service and Moete or Vegares Tatives may be recollary (exercited as position of adjournment) that he preferred to the Prancical of the United States, and tradeous traces are executed, that we approved by him, or Outle I o lay and collect rawrs, duries impoles and expense to pay the acid collect and province to the nark was detailer and general william of the Cinited States. To borrow menty entitle 'rests of the financial has.' To effail the so sentered but it respectively on the laws on the labor of track upwitch the district behind bistory To coin money, ragalate one value attended, and of foreign coin, and for the figuration of wearing to provide for the positioners of counterfrancy the frequency and correspond to the time of To enablith polt officerating polt office to promote the progress of hierarc and about area, by ferticials for limited vesces to authors, and To declare and a supplication of the supplicat To raite and impost airginst that our appropriates on prints so that see that he you also get To provide for along total to rate to execute the laws of the toning respect of total line. I provide the consistency attention of a galaties of the games, garages on a salary of or football results of the graph of the United States of the States of topological at your same for the Color of the color are gone the confidential factors where we start the confident (and confident And -- exemple in the March of the Art of th I a sustant and large until the factor of the present for everying the median manufactor and the species of the State Land I add by manuscripting the control was true to be a supply made had no sense of The first of the second state of the second state of the second s To profesorace shall be given by any sigulation of commere or numer to the ports of one state over thon of another, nor shall vefels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter clear or pay tutingin another And a regular statement and account ofthe ceipts and expenditions of all public money shall be published from time to time Let 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confideration, grant letters of mark and represal, coin money emit will of credit, make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of dett, frap any bill of attainer in portfuts law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any tille of nobility. GEORGIA HISTORICAL SUJILLY 501 Whitaker Street SAVANNAH, GA.

luments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Sect. 7. The enacting stile of the laws shall be, " Be it enacted by the senators and representatives in Congress affembled."

All bills for raifing revenue shall originate in the house of representatives: but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States. If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by twothirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Prefident within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had figned it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by three-fourths of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sect. 8. The Congress may by joint ballot appoint a treasurer. They shall have power

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises; to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States.

To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, among the feveral states, and with the Indian tribes. To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States.

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United

To establish post offices and post roads.

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court.

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations.

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprifal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

To raife and support armies: but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years.

To provide and maintain a navy.

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invafions.

To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the difcipline prescribed by Congress.

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles fquare) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the feat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings-And

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

sect. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as the several state ow existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invafion the public fafety may require it.

No bill of attainder thall be passed, nor any ex post facto law, shall be passed. No capitation tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census herein before directed to be

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States. And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign flate.

Sect. 10. No state shall coin money, nor emit bills of credit, nor make any thing but gold or filver coin a tender in payment of debts, nor pals any bill of attainder, nor ex post facto laws, nor laws altering or impairing the obligation of contracts; nor grant letters of marque and reprifal, nor enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation, nor grant any title of nobility.

two thirts

Dexises shall be using our throughout the united states.

or other direct

No

Provided that no thate whale he vertrained from imporing the winal setting on produce exported from such stone for the work purpose of defraging the charges of inspecting hacking, storing and indemnifying the topes on surproduce while in the custody of public officers, but all such regulations shall in case of about he subject to the revision and control of Gongney. No state shall without for forment of leangues,

A state shall without the consent of congress, layingsons or duties on imports or exports and the worker or had sometimed by and the next hooder of all such duties and imports laid by any state shall be for the reservoired georges breathout the consent of congress bout out the consent of congress boy any suit the consent of congress boy any suit the consent of congress boy any suit of towners, such troops or ships of was in time of reach or with any agrument or compact with another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war another state, or with a foreign power or engage in war

I And he shall not never within that himsed any other emolument from the Maits state or either of them.

I But the congress may by law out the appointment of such inferior officers as they may think proper in the Trisident along in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay imposts or duties on imports or exports, wor with fuch consent, but to the use of the treasury of the United States, Nor keep troops nor ships of war in time of peace, nor enter into any agreement or compact with another flate, nor with any foreign power. Nor engage in any war, unless it shall be actually invaded by enemies, or the danger of invalion be so imminent, as not to admit of delay until the Congress can be consulted.

Sect. 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-prefident, chosen for the fame term, be elected in the following manner:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct a trumber of elec-tors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the mate may be entitled in Congress: but no senator or representative shall be appointed an elector, nor any person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, that be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the general government, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall in the presence of the senate and house of representatives open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have fuch majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately chuse by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states and not per capita, the representation from each state having one vote. A quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be neceffary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president by the representatives, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the vice-prefident.

The Congress may determine the time of chusing the electors, and the time in which they shall give their votes; but the election shall be on the same day throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president, and the Congress may by law provide for the cafe of moval, death, refignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what to of cer shall then are accordingly, until the disability be removed, or the period for chusing another president arrive, or a president shall be classed.

The prefident shall, at stated times, receive a fixed compensation for his services, which shall neither be encreased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I-//, do folemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my judgment and power, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

Sect. 2. The prefident shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States: he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, when called into the actual service of the United States, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of im-

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and confent of the fenate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and confus judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments at not herein otherwise provided for, and which that we established by law &

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sect. 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their confideration fuch measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient : he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper: he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers: he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Sect. 4. The prefident, vice-prefident and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and mildemeanors.

Sect. 1. The judicial power of the United States, both in law and equity, shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sect. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, both in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under which day shall

And the state of t The state of the s to cales elected annualisate, on poor violents and conton, and there is no be to be contoned to cale and the cal and the time of the other than the transfer of the state a work of the second second production and anythe only in revenue was upon the last of the second se the Congress that have power to destant the maillanear of treating, but no attitude agreed that work correction along are forestoned excellent terms the life of the performance. Sair, a. Wall tark and caldle had be given in each has so she public arts, records one; judy it quote edings of every actor flare. And six Congress may by general laws prefereby the manner of which fach after the florid thereof. legh a. The circumsel cach state hall be entired to all privileges and privately a remaining contou charged in any flate were evaluated velocity, or other criery, who shall not even fulfire. and be found in another frate, that an itemand of the executive authority of the itait from when he fied be delivered up, and removed to the fine burials jurisdiction of the crime No person legally held to service or labour in one state; r scaping into another, shall in an atequence of regulations fulfilling therein he dikin aged from such besize or labor, but flash be delisated unon claim of the pany to whom furt terrice or ishour may be due. Setting. New flams may be admissed reveled Longted mosthis arriging bor no new mass that be, formed or credied suchmittee, for thereon or any other Harry nor any this beformed by sec junction of two or more thans, or parts of therea, walnut the condear of the legislatures of the flatte concertied as well as of the Congress. The Congrets findle lave power to coper of and make all needful rules and regulations reporting the secretory or other property belonging to the United Smire; and neithing in this Spiritugent Shall be fo contraed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular chate. Soft, a. The United States that quarantecete every thate in this union a Sepublican (eem or government, and fhall protecti each of these against success, and on application of the lagislature of two country agreed domestic a column of The Congress, whenever two thurs as took house help from recellars, or on the solution of two chiefs are chief of the legislatures of the reversional materials arguest assentiations to the court made which that he vand to all intents and prepalety separate when the lane that have been That propon amendments to this constitution = call a convention for proposing amendments I and that no state without its consent whall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

bearing and at the first and morning morning both of the Holist States and of the first States of the second control of the States of the States of States of the States o The restrance care core and the manner many that the indicient for the reachingent is come you remain - and the remaining the state and their authority. To all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and confuls. To all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction. To controversies to which the United States shall be a party. To controversies between two or more States; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different States; between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

In cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under fuch regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the faid crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have di-

- Sect. 3. Treason against the United States, shall confist only indevying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, nor forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted. IV.

Sect. 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which fuch acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sect. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the feveral states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall slee from justice, and be found in another state, shall on demand of the executive authority of the state from which

and be found in another state, shall on demand of the executive addition of the crime.

No person legally held to service or labour in one state, escaping into another, she of regulations substituting therein be discharged from such service or labor, but shall on claim of the party to whom such service or labour may be due. No person legally held to service or labour in one state, escaping into another, shall in consequence of regulations fubfilling therein be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom fuch fervice or labour may be due.

Sect. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state beformed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States: and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state,

Sect. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union a Republican form of government, and shall protect each of clear spainst invasion; and on application of the legislature or

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem necessary, or on the application of two thirds of the legislatures of the several states, shall propose amendments to this constitution, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part thereof, when the same shall have been ratified by three fourths at least of the legislatures of the several states, or by conventions in threefourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress: Provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year 1808 shall in any manner affect the first and fourth lections of article

All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution as under the confederation.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the fupreme law of the land; and the judges in every flate shall be bound thereby, any thing in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives beforementioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the feveral States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

The ratification of the conventions of nine States, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

- I. service / thirty
- 2. [[strikethrough]] by lot[[/strikethrough]]
- 3. or affirmation
- 4. which shall then fill such vacancies
- 5. , except as to the place of choosing senators

6.

[corresponds with article I, section 9 on page 2]

- + No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another, nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter clear or pay duties in another.
- *And a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time

[corresponds with article I, section IO on page 2]

Sec IO. No state shall enter into any treaty alliance or confederation, grant letter of mark and reprisal, coin money, emit bills of credit, make anything but gold and silver coin as tender in payment of debts, [[pass any?]] bills of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

- 7. two thirds / but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.
- 8. or other direct
- 9. any of the
- 10. shall be passed

[corresponds with article I, section IO on page 2]

[[strikethrough]] Provided that no state shall be restrained from imposing the usual duties on produce exported from such states for the sole purpose of defraying the exchange of housing, storing, and identifying the [[losses?]] on such produce, while in the custody of public affairs, but all such regulations shall in case of abuse be subject to the revision and consent of Congress. No state shall without the consent of congress [[/strikethrough]]

No state shall without the consent of congress lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws and the net produce of all such duties and imposts on imports or exports laid by any state shall be for the use of the Treasury of the United States and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of congress. No state shall without the consent of congress lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in times of peace enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power or engage in war unless actually invaded or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

[corresponds with article 2, section I on page 3]

+ And he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from The United States or entities of them.

[corresponds with article 2, section 2 on page 3]

Ş But the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they may think proper in the presidents alone, in the courts of law or in the heads of departments.

- 12. as follows
- 13. government of the United States
- 14. which day shall be the same
- 15. when called into the actual service of the United States
- 16. ,shall be appointed an elector.
- 17., or a president shall be elected
- 18., and which shall be established by law $

19.

[corresponds with article 5 on page 4]

"shall propose amendments to the constitution = call a convention for proposing amendments b And that no state without its consent shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate

- 20. Under the laws thereof / law or
- 21. [[the legislature?]] / of two thirds /of three fourths
- 22. clauses in the ninth section of the first article